Goodbye, Sue

It's with mixed emotions that we announce the resignation of Susan Coenen, our Education Reference Librarian. Sue has accepted an assistant director position at a public library closer to her home. Friday, January 21 will be her last day at UWW.

Sue has done a terrific job in her role as the Library's liaison to the College of Education and in shaping the Library's children's curriculum collection. We will miss Sue's many contributions to the Library and we wish her well in her new venture.

Until a new librarian is hired, Kyle Naff will be the liaison to the College of Education. If you would like to schedule a class for library instruction, you may call or email the Reference Desk at 262.472.1032 or refdesk@uww.edu.

Continuous Book Sale

Each month, the Andersen Library Book Sale features gift books or material that has been withdrawn from its collections during the past year.

We will put out a fresh supply of sale books on Friday, January 21.

This month, books will be priced at $1 each and all proceeds from the sale will be used to purchase new library materials.

Look for the Book Sale Kiosk located near the Library entrance.

America's Newspapers

When you're looking for the latest news, you probably have a favorite news source, whether online or in print. But the Library needs to offer its users a variety of newspapers and news sources in order to provide a well-balanced view of local, national and world news.

When the Milwaukee Journal-Sentinel and Chicago Tribune withdrew their content from LexisNexis and EBSCO Newspaper Source Plus last year, we had to find another source that carried these important regional papers. NewsBank's America's Newspapers database offers these two newspapers as well as 1,500 other local and national newspapers from the U.S. and its territories as well as news magazines and local television news stations (video footage).

The Library now has a subscription to America's Newspapers and is pleased with its local and national coverage of news.

We still have LexisNexis, which is great for international newspapers and Newspaper Source Plus (EBSCO). Ethnic Newswatch (ProQuest) offers news from ethnic newspapers across the country.

Resume Doctor @ Andersen Library

Career and Leadership Development is again holding Resume Doctor sessions in Andersen Library.

Your students can have their resumes professionally reviewed. No appointments are necessary. The Resume Doctor will be located on the second floor of Andersen Library near the Circulation Desk.
