

March Letter from Andersen Library

March 5, 2012

<http://library.uww.edu>

University of Wisconsin - Whitewater

Jolly Good (Library) Fellows

Though faculty have often expressed interest to us in gaining access to UW Madison's electronic resources, the number of applicants to the Library Research Fellows Program has been surprisingly low. But for faculty and staff with upcoming research projects requiring access to online databases we don't subscribe to at UW-W, the good news is that applications are being accepted again for the program.

Program Information (from the web site listed below)

The University of Wisconsin-Whitewater, in collaboration with the University of Wisconsin-Madison, supports limited Library Research Fellows in 2012-2013. Through the program, faculty/staff will be granted access to UW-Madison Library licensed electronic library resources.

This program will attract and retain accomplished faculty/staff whose expertise and drive contribute to the discovery and dissemination of knowledge; support the production of technologies and products that generate license fees and spur the creation of start-up companies; and accelerate grant awards and related revenue flows to the University of Wisconsin by providing faculty/staff with access to the most comprehensive, up-to-date knowledge base.

Program Deadline: 21 March 2012 for Summer/
Fall 2012 Library Research Fellowships

<http://uwworsp.org/I-Grants/UW-Whitewater-Grants/Library-Research-Fellowship.aspx>

Research Day in the Library

Do you want your students to spend a class period in the Library working on their research? Many faculty bring their students in for a research day, often as a follow-up to a formal library instruction session.

If you'd like a librarian to be available to assist your students in our Instruction Lab, give us a call or email us to arrange a time. If you don't require a librarian, just head over here with your students.

<http://library.uww.edu/aboutus/staff.html#liaison>

Librarians Make House Calls

Librarian liaisons are available to introduce your faculty to library resources and services at a Departmental meeting, in small groups or individually. We can cover a specific database or provide an overview of library resources in your field – the content and time allotted is up to you. Let us know what you have in mind and we'll set up a session.

<http://library.uww.edu/aboutus/staff.html#liaison>

At Your Leisure

Are you interested in listening to music such as Mozart's Complete Solo Clavier-Concerts? How about reading a graphic novel like Dungeons & Dragons, by George R.R. Martin? Or playing games like X-Men Destiny on Xbox? If you are looking for mainstream items like these, come check out the Andersen Library Browsing Collections!

Andersen Library has a wide variety of popular materials in the Browsing Collections on the Main floor, including nearly 3,000 Center of the Arts CDs that were added this February to the Academic CD Browsing Collection. Our collections support the academic mission and programs of the University, but that doesn't stop them from being fun.

Other Browsing Collections include Browsing Books (fiction and non-fiction), Graphic Novels, CDs, Academic and Feature DVDs, VHS tapes, Video Games and Consoles, and Audio Books. And don't forget the thousands of novels available in the Main Collection on third floor.

— by Christine Fary

Questions? Contact Carol Elsen, Collection Manager, x5751 elsenc@uww.edu