Ask a Librarian Summer Chat

Since so many summer courses are online, we are making a point to promote our Ask a Librarian live chat service to summer students. The 24x7 service is offered by a world-wide consortium of academic libraries and UWW librarians will be staffing it several nights a week this summer. <https://geturl.uww.edu/1s5>

Ask a Librarian is a great way for your students to get real time assistance with their research. See our Summer Chat video for more information: <https://youtu.be/T6I1VC9KTbM>

Database Changes

Since cuts are looming for the Library's collection budget, we are finding ways to reduce costs. The Library will drop its EBSCO eBook Academic Collection in favor of Ebrary Academic Complete Collection. The products have similar content and Ebrary has 47% of our most-used EBSCO ebooks. Ebrary is less expensive and its titles will be discoverable in Research@UWW. This switch takes place on July 1.

Journal Citation Reports, which offers impact factors for journals, will be cancelled as of July 1 due to high cost-per-use. Journal Impact Factors will be included in Cabell's Directory of Publishing Opportunities when its new interface is rolled out in May. <https://geturl.uww.edu/1no>

Alma Dates

The UW System Libraries are busily migrating to Alma, the new shared Library Management System. Here are some dates to keep in mind:

- ◆ May 13 - we can begin to order and catalog new material for the Library
- ◆ May 15-20 - fines and fees can't be paid and My Account in Research@UWW is unusable
- ◆ May 21 - Alma goes "live" and all Research@UWW functions resume

When we go live on May 21, Research@UWW will look slightly different. UW System Borrowing will be available through the Get It tab. My Account will also be working again. <https://geturl.uww.edu/1zq>
