Help Us Welcome New Staff

Sarell Martin is the Library's new Public Relations & Outreach Coordinator. He'll be working to conceptualize and initiate the Library's marketing and outreach efforts. Sarell comes to us from Gruber Law Offices, where he worked as a Brand Ambassador.

Sarell is a recent graduate of UW-Whitewater, and we're pleased to have him back on campus as a member of Andersen Library's Access Services Department.

Streaming Social Sciences Films

The Library's Kanopy subscription is allowing us to expand our offerings of streaming social sciences films.

Kanopy Streaming: Social Sciences includes important films like Black Is ... Black Ain't and W.E.B. Du Bois: A Biography in Four Voices. The topics range across the spectrum of social and behavioral science disciplines, including: sociology, psychology, race & class studies, LGBT, history, and much more.

If there is demand for films in other subject areas of Kanopy, let us know and we will consider making them available. We currently have the Education and Social Sciences subject areas activated.

Hear, Hear! Audiobooks

We often hear from students who prefer class readings in audio format. The Center for Students with Disabilities can help those students registered with them. But since not all students have access to their services, you might consider requesting audiobooks for the Library.

We order audiobooks in MP3 CD format. Books come on only one disc with downloadable files. If you'd like to search Research@UWW for audiobooks, just add that term to your search (e.g., audiobooks mark twain). Here's a link that will retrieve many of the audiobooks in our collection.

All departments and University offices are encouraged to nominate their faculty and staff. Please send nominations and documentation no later than Friday, November 3, 2017. Recognition is for achievements accomplished between July 1, 2016 and June 30, 2017.

Cite it Right

Welcome to our newly-designed Citation Guides page, which is a portal to all our citation guides.

The new online versions of our APA and MLA guides, courtesy of Business Librarian, Naomi Schemm, will be particularly helpful to your students.
